Religious or not?	Not strict
Your interests and hobbies?	I enjoy simple but meaningful things in life. I like exploring new places, good food, and relaxing walks where I can clear my mind. I'm also interested in self-development, skincare/beauty topics, and learning new skills online. In my free time I enjoy watching films or series, listening to music, and sometimes just staying at home to recharge. I also like social moments with close people more than big crowds.

How do you describe your personality?	I would describe myself as calm, caring, and observant. I'm a person who pays attention to details and how people feel. At first I can be a bit reserved, but when I feel comfortable I become warm, open, and funny. I value honesty and emotional stability, and I prefer real conversations over small talk.
Your merits and flaws (please be more detailed about the flaws part)	I'm supportive, empathetic, and I try to understand people instead of judging them quickly. I'm loyal in relationships and I put effort into things I care about. I'm also quite independent and responsible. I'm naturally independent, so I sometimes try to handle everything on my own instead of asking for help. I'm learning that it's okay to rely on other people.
Do you want to get married soon? if so, how soon you can get married.	Yes, I want to get married as soon as possible
What's your opinion about having children?	I want to have kids
Diet Type	Mixed (I eat both meat and plant-based foods). I enjoy seafood, grilled meats, fresh salads, pasta, sushi, and Mediterranean cuisine. I also like trying new restaurants and different cuisines. I'm not a picky eater, but I don't enjoy very spicy food or foods with a lot of processed ingredients.
Your idea about marriage life (family role, financial contribution, etc.)	I believe marriage is a partnership based on love, trust, and respect. I prefer a traditional family structure, where the man is the main financial provider. At the same time, I believe both partners should support each other, communicate openly, and work together to build a happy and stable family.
In the future do you want to live in China or elsewhere	I'm open-minded about where to live. I would be happy to live in China if it feels like the right place for both of us, but I'm also open to living in another country. For me, the most important thing is building a happy life together, regardless of the location.

The Partner you Expect:

Gender of your partner	Male
Age Range	35-50
Height Range	175 and higher
Weight Range	No specific preference, as long as he is healthy and takes care of himself
Education	Bachelor's degree or higher preferred.
Race/Ethnicity	No preference.
country	No preference. I'm open to meeting someone from any country.
Salary range (in Euro)	Preferably €100000+ per year, but character, values, and financial responsibility are more important than a specific income.
Do you care if he/she has a house or car?	Not necessarily, but I appreciate a man who is financially stable and responsible
Do you care if he/she married before?	No, as long as he has moved on and is ready for a new, serious relationship.
Do you care if he/she has kid?	Preferably no, but I'm open to discussing the situation if he is a devoted and responsible father.
If he/she smoke or no?	I prefer a non-smoker.
If he/she drinks or no?	Occasional social drinking is fine, but I don't want someone who drinks excessively.
Do you care if he/she can't speak English? Or poor English?	Basic English is important so we can communicate well. I'm open to learning each other's languages over time.
If he/she's atheist or religious?	No strong preference, as long as he respects my beliefs and values.
If he/she's mix diet or vegetarian	No preference.
If he/she wants to stay in China or live elsewhere	I'm open to living in China or another country if we both agree it's the best choice for our future

Do you prefer to meet your potential partner in your country or China? If in your country, we may need your help to get him/her visa, would you help us?	I'm happy to meet in either country. If we build a genuine relationship, I would be willing to help with the visa process if needed.
Anything else you expect	I'm looking for a kind, emotionally mature, loyal, and honest man who is serious about building a long-term relationship and a happy family. I value good communication, mutual respect, and someone who is financially responsible and ready for commitment.
